Marion county school bus drivers are not licensed chauffeurs, but are capable men, Superintendent Rayburn says. He expressed this opinion this morning in response to a query as to whether or not school bus drivers should be licensed. Rayburn said that he had no objection to school bus drivers being licensed, but that he believed that the present system of licensing was sufficient. ## Brick-Making Takes Rank As an Art in Work Done at Plant Operating in Upper Sandusky

Above is shown a photograph view of the plant of the Wyandot Clay Products Co., situated in the southwest section of Upper Sandusky. At the right is pictured Robert L. Hare, founder and manager of the business.

Sand-Mold Face Bricks of Varied Hues Made by Wyandot Clay Products Co.; Sold for Fine Building Work in All Sections of Country

BY EDNA S. DUTTON
State Editor, The Star
A COMBINATION of earth, fire and water, in the hands of persons who know what to do with it, can grow into the most beautiful houses, schools, hospitals and even institutions designed to house those who do not feel inclined to obey the laws. These institutions have some claim to beauty and art. A brick to the average person is—well, just a brick. To those whose business it is to manufacture bricks it is a science and an art and to those who build with brick it is a means to an end and the finished product a tribute to their craftsmanship.

At Upper Sandusky is to be found one of the largest plants producing sand mold face bricks in the United States and one of the finest and most up-to-date plants in this part of the country, the Wyandot Clay Products Co. The business was started in 1919 by Robert L. Hare, who saw a future in the little two-kiln life factory, which catered primarily to the trade of Wyandot county and the surrounding territory. In spite of the fact that ten years ago the entire plant, which had grown considerably in its

ADD TO STATE ROAD MILEAGE

Increase of Eight Miles Granted to Marion County
This Year

WILL BE ROUTE 573

Waldo-Prospect Highway To
Be Indianapolis-Pittsburgh
Link

Approximately eight miles of county highway in Marion county will be added to the state highway system this year, according to information received by the board of county commissioners today from the state highway department.

The county road to be taken over connects state route No. 4 and state route No. 27 through Prospect and Waldo. Hearing on the petition of landowners requesting the state department to take over the road was held here last November. The road will be designated in the state system as route No. 573. The road is a short-cut between routes No. 4 and No. 27 and is a connecting link in the proposed state highway which eventually will connect Indianapolis and Pittsburgh through Bellefontaine, Mt. Vernon and Steubenville.

Three Applications
The Prospect-Waldo road is one of three highways in Marion county which property owners sought to have the state department take over this year. The others were the Marion-Alexandria road, a link in a state road to connect Marion and Bellefontaine, and another road, part of which is in Marion county, connecting Brush Ridge and Nevada.

Since the Prospect-Waldo rd. has been taken over by the state department it is considered unlikely that either of the other roads will be considered this year. The state department is said to have petitioned requesting it to take over more than 2,000 miles of county highways. The department is permitted by law to assume control of only 200 miles each year. The eight miles included in the Prospect-Waldo rd. are in the 200 miles taken over for 1930.

For this year the Prospect-Waldo rd. will be designated as a state highway only from route No. 4, a mile and a half east of Prospect, to Waldo. Eventually it is the plan to extend the road from Waldo east to Mt. Vernon.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

FOUND DEAD IN SNOW
CLEVELAND.—The body of a woman between 35 and 40 years of age was found frozen on lonely Edinboro rd. on the southeast corner of the city here today. Mystery surrounded the woman's identity. Assistant County Coroner Wilson, Chamberlain, who examined the body, said the woman had suffered a heart attack and collapsed in the snow, where she apparently died of exposure.

$800,000 FOUNDRY FIRE
INDIANAPOLIS.—One of the worst fires in this city's history, virtually destroyed the American Foundry Company plant today. The loss was estimated at nearly $800,000. One fireman, William Young, was overcome by smoke and was removed to the city hospital.

FIXAL TRUDEL LUMIN
WASHINGTON.—Directly aimed at prevention of such tragedies as that of the Modena, the U. S. Coast Guard today announced that it was considering a plan to prohibit flying of transport planes at all times of less than 100 feet.

Whaling Companies Will Give Aid to Byrd Party

OSLO, Jan. 25.—Directors of principal whaling companies operating to the Antarctic were pledged today to do everything in their power to prevent Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd from being marooned by lack of ice at his exploratory base, Little America.

The belief was expressed, however, that there was little chance of Byrd and his crew being hopelessly benighted in by ice until March at the earliest, as reports from whaling vessels in the vicinity indicate that the ice is not in as bad shape as had been reported.

DISTRIBUTION TO NEEDY WILL START MONDAY

Clothing Assembled for Relief Work Being Sorted at Headquarters

MANY CALLS FOR AID

Story of Pathos and Suffering
Revealed by Destitute
Families

BY HALLIE HOUR
Marion Star Staff Writer

Monday will be the dawn of a new hope for Marion's needy.

These in charge of the clothing relief work announced today that the clothing now being collected will be sorted and made ready for distribution at that time.

There is grief, sincere and worthy, and there is "professional" poverty that is disgusting, at the headquarters for the collection of clothes today.

Small, half-starved, dirty dressed little girls and boys came for a pair of shoes, a coat, or underwear, only to be told that they would have to wait until Monday. Their stories were sad.

"Yes, he works when he gets the chance," one little girl with wide, tragic eyes said this morning when questioned at Community Fund headquarters about the work her father was doing.

In Middle Aisle
Another girl, wearing gloves that were not hers, and were men's size, wanted some shoes. She was wearing a discarded pair that had belonged to a full-grown woman, and the child was such a tiny bit of humanity. It's fun when you are a child and have good clothes to play "grown-up" in.

The old lady who had raised a family of seven children, and was still stout and hearty at more than 70 years of age, almost broke down and cried this morning when she tried to explain to those in charge that no one wanted her to work for them because she was too old. But she was willing, and she was hungry, and she needed clothing.

C. M. Tobin, city relief officer, had had more than 50 calls, and others at the office today from people really needing clothing, and also people who had been living off the city for five or more years.

Pitiful Cases
There is poverty, stark and appalling, in the city, the kind that comes after a father who has always worked and always provided for his family, finds himself out of work, and one who wants him. He can't get a job, and he and his family are desperately poor.

Where But in Chicago!

Pollanen Use Gats to Settle Argument As to Who Should Drive Patrol

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Policemen George Sirowatka and George Polaski were unable to settle the issue of who was going to drive the patrol wagon so they resorted to their trusty revolvers to settle the argument. Latest bulletins today from Sirowatka's hospital bed told the chance for recovery. He is seriously injured with a bullet in his chest, another in his abdomen and a third in his arm. Sirowatka was driving last night when Polaski insisted that he take the wheel. Sirowatka refused to move and drew his gun and shot once, according to witnesses. Polaski returned the fire and his companion officer fell.

FIVE CHILDREN, MOTHER DEAD

Tar-Paper Covered Home
Catches Fire and Becomes Raging Inferno

AT ATLANTA, MICH.

Blaze Discovered by Son, Who
Risks Life in Vain Rescue
Effort

ATLANTA, Mich., Jan. 25.—A mother and her young children were burned to death here early today when their little tar-paper-covered home caught fire and was transformed into a raging inferno by a passing northwind.

The dead:
Mrs. Florence Kent, 43, and her children:
Aneta, 13,
Aneta, 11,
Thomas, 9,
Lucille, 8,
William, 5.

The fire was discovered by another son, Bruce, 18, as he returned home early today from a basketball game. Even though the four-room home was developed in flames, Bruce rushed in to an effort to save his mother, brothers and sisters.

CAPTAIN GOES DOWN WITH DOOMED SHIP

Refuses Offers of Rescue Vessels to Take Him Off Liner
Before It Sinks

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 25.—Little hope was held out here today for the salvaging of the 11,913 ton German liner Monte Cervantes, which sank in the Straits of Magellan after her 1,200 passengers and crew had been rescued.

True to the traditions of the sea, Capt. Theodore Dreyer of the Monte Cervantes went down with his ship, disregarding the offers of 19 rescue vessels to take him off the doomed liner.

By wireless he declared the ship was lifted by a high sea from the sharp rock on which she had been impaled, and sank almost immediately. Captain Dreyer had been working unceasingly for hours to get his passengers off in safety, and when it was seen that nothing could be done for the ship, ordered his crew into the rescue boats.

After completing a number of officers gallantly pleaded to remain with their shipper. He refused to abandon his ship, however, and all watched horrified from the rails of rescue ships as the big steamer plunged to the bottom. Captain Dreyer, standing erect on the bridge.

5 INCHES BELOW KNEE

That's Where Paris' Sgt. Dreyer
Wound He as Ship Sank Open

PARIS, Jan. 25.—With hundreds of American officers on hand for the annual spring style showing, advance information today indicated that the smartest frocks in Paris are definitely long—from five inches below the knee to the ankles.

The first frocks are long, designed for style and afternoon wear with richly colored and long for formal evening wear.

If the Paris couturiers know what they are talking about, the ultra short skirt is definitely "out."

OFFICERS ROUT ROBBERY PAIR AT WORK HERE

Loot from Local Produce
Market Left Behind as Burglars Flee

TRAILED THROUGH STATE

Fugitives Sought for Thefts
Committed in Two Other Counties

Two men wanted in Darke and Licking counties escaped capture by Marion police by a few seconds early this morning when their attempt to rob the Underwood produce and egg market, 230 North Main st., was frustrated.

The men escaped to the south in a Chrysler sedan, which is believed to have been stolen in former activities of the two in other parts of the state. Search for the two men moved to the northern part of the state yesterday afternoon after it was learned that they had sold two crates of stolen eggs here while enroute to Toledo. The names of the men are not known other than that one of them gave his name as Martin when he disposed of the eggs to a local produce dealer.

Thirty Discovery
The two men had nine crates of eggs valued at $100 piled outside the warehouse of the Underwood market this morning at 4 o'clock when their activities were suddenly interrupted by city police. However, the men sensed the approach of police force before the patrolmen were aware of their activities, and hurriedly drove away in a Chrysler sedan as police ran towards them. The men, who entered the market from the rear, and later removed the eggs from a side door, apparently intended to load their loot in the car and escape.

According to officials of the market's office here who are helping more city officials in detecting and tracking the men, the pair sold the eggs when they passed through here about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The produce dealer became suspicious of their actions and reported their automobile number to the sheriff's office.

Hobby in Darke County
A check through the sheriff's office of Darke county revealed that the plates were stolen from an automobile owned by a Dr. Voling, of Greenville, Wednesday night. The Darke County sheriff also stated that an adding machine and merchandise valued at $300 had been stolen in Greenville the same night.

Contents of a medicine case taken from Dr. Voling's machine are said to have been found near Columbus yesterday morning.

The eggs sold here are thought to have been stolen from a produce house in Newark. The Licking county sheriff reported to the sheriff's office here that nine and a half cases of eggs had been stolen there yesterday. The produce dealer to whom four cases of eggs were sold said that the pair had slightly more than nine cases of eggs in their car. The Darke County indicated that they were enroute to Toledo.

Articles of the pair were traced to Newark through an address on a card found containing part of the eggs sold to the local dealer. Sheriff's officials stated that the stolen license plates were number 322-500. The men were driving a 1929 Chrysler sedan.

EX-KAISER IS 71

Anniversary for Former German
Ruler Will Be Monday

DOORS, Bonn, Jan. 25.—Former Kaiser Wilhelm will be 71 years old on Monday. A simple celebration has been planned entirely unlike the elaborate celebration of last year. Only the former Kaiser's closest relatives and friends will come here for the birthday festivities. Last year even the most distant Hohenzollerns attended.

Frustrate Another Plot on President Irigoyen

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 25.—Another plot against the life of President Hipolito Irigoyen has been frustrated, police stated today.

They announced the arrest of well-known anarchist who was found near the president's home, carrying a gun. The president narrowly escaped an assassin's bullet while motorizing to his home the day before Christmas.

BATTLESHIPS NOT TO BE DISCUSSED

Question of Their Abolition Definitely Squelched at Naval Conference

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 25.—All question of the London naval conference considering the abolition of battleships has been definitely squelched and the subject won't even be given a place in the agenda when the "big five" meet to discuss procedure on Monday.

This was learned by International News Service from an official source today. The tentative agenda which Premier MacDonald prepared originally continued the question of "abolition or retention of battleships" but after consultation with the others of the "big five" the premier agreed that it would be better to leave the question out.

This was found satisfactory to all the delegates and one possible obstacle to agreement among them was thereby removed.

They never were dumb, as a matter of fact, from here onward. Many women, understanding foolish men, have pretended to be less intelligent than they are. Men wish to feel superior mentally, and to bring that about it is usually necessary for the woman to conceal much of her intelligence.

Charles Blake, a miner 50 years old, tired of life and prospecting with poor prospects, put a stick of dynamite on his head, lighted the fuse and waited.

The man stood, the explosion blew his skull to atoms and shook buildings for several blocks.

AIRPLANE travel rates drop rapidly. You fly from Los Angeles to San Francisco, 400 air miles, returning in a Southern Pacific sleeper, for $35 a round trip.

The T. A. T. Madrid Air Line reports losses 50 to 75 per cent capacity, 15 planes added to the service to provide for increased business.

United States authorities at San Diego are shocked to learn that the "irrigation committee" of the American Legion was organized at the state convention last year to "irrigate" delegates with liquid refreshments.

Death Ends Career of Only Woman U.S. Senator

Mrs. Rebecca Felton, 94, Georgia's Grand Old Woman, Dies in Atlanta, Ga.; Death Caused by Pneumonia

ATLANTA, Jan. 25.—Death today had closed the career of Mrs. Rebecca Felton, 94, Georgia's second old woman and the first and only member of her sex ever to hold a seat in the United States senate. She died a few minutes before midnight last night at a local hospital where she had been a patient since Jan. 16, when she was stricken with a bronchial attack that developed into pneumonia.

With funeral plans have not been completed, it was announced that an interment would be in her home town, Cartersville, Ga., where someone once erected a small mausoleum in her family lot. She had given instructions that her body be buried there.

Mrs. Felton was a unique personality in Georgia history. Born in DeKalb county, June 10, 1835, she was reared on one of the antebellum plantations that flourished in the "golden age" of the old South. Her maiden name was Rebecca Lister.

of District Meet
Here Today

Marion's safety conference and luncheon got under way this morning at Hotel Harding with 65 men from central Ohio in attendance. The principal speaker on the morning program was T. P. Kearns, of Columbus, superintendent of the division of safety and hygiene of the state industrial commission, who discussed "The Safety Code and How to Apply It in Vocational Schools."

R. J. Heusch, of Columbus, state supervisor of trades and industries, was chairman of the morning session. A welcome to the guests of the conference was extended by Sup. George A. Bowman, of the Marion schools.

This afternoon, following luncheon in the main dining room of Hotel Harding, comments on safety education in industry will be heard from a number of manufacturers of this section. H. W. Paine, vocational teacher-trainer, of the University of Toledo, was to preside this afternoon. Another feature of the afternoon session will be "The Outlook," a state safety film brought to the conference by T. P. Kearns.

Among guests of the conference are Mayor L. Don Jones and Safety Director T. E. Sospansky.

Shaw and Rogers Settle Their Own Naval Parley

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Details of a private naval conference between two kings of old-George Bernard Shaw and Will Rogers were revealed here today.

The famous playwright and the humorist met for a talk over the progress of the disarmament conference.

It was a disarmament conference, and Shaw, 67, it is an armistice conference. They are Just arguing whether it will be better to kill people with 100 to 100 men.

Yes, answered Rogers, it's all about battleships and how they don't affect one. Very few folks can point to an ancestor who was killed by a battleship. Before his arrival, Shaw had been told his visitor was a Cherokee Indian by attraction.

"I expected you to come decked out in feather and war paint," he told the comedian.

Art Progressing in U. S.,
Sculptor Tells Local Club

TODAY art is being recognized and there is exhilaration in getting into the game," Herman Atkins MacNeil, sculptor of New York City, said last night in a talk before the local club. The address was given in City Library. He is a guest in the M. C. McNeil home, Girard av.

In speaking of America and its art, he reminded the group that art in this country is only 70 years old, and that only now are we coming into prominence in the art of the world. He pointed out that in 1839 there was one Rembrandt, six Turners, six Van Dyckes and two Titians in the country. There was nothing of the kind.

The more large museums in the country like the Metropolitan in New York and the Art Institute at Chicago, the greater will be their influence, the greater their success, and the larger their bequests, he declared.
